Preface

I am venturing to publish this book with the sole object of convincing the public that certain planetary forces are at work on the life of every person on a particular day. What these planets are and how they work on human life is fully explained in this book.

I have taken great pains in fixing 3 primary and 3 secondary planets for every day. The primary planets play an important role while the secondary planets only cast their shadows on human life.

It would be presumptuous to say that every incident mentioned in the book will occur on that day. Mine is an honest attempt to locate 6 planets and from their qualities arrive at a fair judgement regarding the happenings on a particular day. I have rigorously tested the contents for more than 3 years before offering the book to the public.

The book should prove useful to stock exchange fraternity, race-fans and to persons engaged in other such activities.

The author, however, does not commit himself and accepts no liability whatsoever in case persons doing business on the lines suggested in the book are put to loss.

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Shri R. V. Raghuvanshi, proprietor, Shri Gajanan Book Depot, Bombay for bringing out this publication. Sincere thanks are also due to his press workers for the decent and quick work they have done.

How to Find your Daily Number

At the beginning of this book, you will find four tables. The horizontal column at the top represents minutes while the left hand vertical column represents the day of the week.

To find out your daily number note the exact time in the morning spontaneously. Take into consideration only the minutes. Look for the table where the figure of the minutes is given. Then see the day of the week. At the junction of these two you will get your number for the day.

For example, say it is Thursday. The time noted by you is 7-31 a. m. Ignoring hours the number is 31. See table No. 3. You will get this number in the first horizontal column. Then look for Thursday. At the junction of these two, the number is 73. This is your number. Very easy indeed.
